

Of Complacency & Consequences

To those who are concerned:

Congratulations to all who fight for justice; but does our growing complaint have larger implications? Do we need to seek the cause? Does complacency have consequences?

The cause of social problems is far more important than issues.

Complaint is weak: it has little debating power to create social change. A few years ago, 70% in a Sydney survey said: What we have is not democracy! It is ours by law; why do we not act? Do we fear to face truth? Are the consequences of expanding worldwide cultural decay greater than growth of petulance, crime and corruption?

Complaint is easier than responsibility! Too irritable for in-depth debate; too lazy for social action! No longer able to maintain a culture we once proudly built, we pretend all is well.

Pride in our mindless "mass promoted fashions" and waste-easy lives, ignores that our costly education is focused on feel-good trivia and over-glamorized technology. While medical services decline in efficiency, sickness soars – as schools deliver increasing numbers low in human skills, social understanding and workforce skills, decline.

Growing numbers have no concept of the human essentials – no real discipline for honesty or responsibility. Apprenticeships were actively discouraged so we now import skilled labour, but health and public services decline.

Daily news reveals the slide: woman has to pull own tooth; youths bash pensioners; business executives skim millions; parents ignore that sex driven mass-media encourages rape and contempt; hospital mistakes become the greatest single cause of deaths; while, encouragement to unhealthy lifestyles, brings premature death and illness to almost everyone.

WHY has human culture disintegrated in all advanced countries in line with indoctrination of humanist/socialist philosophy? Protests; petitions; race riots; marches; all now achieve no more than deepening community confusion and despair. Cultures decline, because, led astray by emotion-based philosophy, we scorn practical answers.

Global Government has led us into a global trap. Why is so little publicity given to the fact that melting permafrost is already releasing more global warming pollutants than is human irresponsibility – or that global warming shifts huge weight of water from poles to oceans?

Is earth's thin broken crust already showing strain? A recent report on TV claimed sea level will rise a metre in forty years; if that spells disaster what do we call the growing consequence of that transfer of weight on earth's shifting crust? What do we call the growing inhumanity of man?

When North Korea exploded a small atomic device it shocked the world. The following day sighs of relief as what was thought a second test was just a small earthquake in the vicinity. But signs of a sensitized earth are what should be making us shake in our shoes.

We are not warned of the speed at which natural forces build! Do we remember that large extinct animals were found in frozen Siberia with tropical vegetation in their stomachs? Think exponential!

NOTE: One metric ton of water moved from polar regions to every square metre of ocean, may not seem a lot for the earth to carry, but our earth's crust is not a united shell that can withstand heavy loading without deformity!

We live on the surface of a continually-moving broken crust, it floats on molten lava; it may stick here and there when loads stabilize but breaks free when global shape changes. Moving the load changes earth's shape!

It's not so much the weight but the move of weight that drives earth-changing events. As ice melts at the poles to add a cubic metre over the oceans, volcanic activity, such as not seen since before the last ice age, seems certain.

Though this may well turn our earth from global warming to a poisoned desert heading for another ice age by the time those forty years are up, our mass media concentrates on trivia and government is focused on winning the next election.

TV programs feature the possibility of giant earthquakes, storms and volcanoes. We become aware that one giant earthquake could disable the most powerful nation; but these exposures put the blame on nature. We are not told that the global warming, caused by our misled behavior, has triggered a deadly change in earth's natural balance. *

Some possibilities are openly revealed, but not the fact that catastrophe, within our remaining lifetimes, could have been avoided by political honesty, truth-based education and common-sense action.

To expose truth would mean revealing that our Globalist/socialist world government has put huge effort of indoctrination into re-making human culture to a design of insect social order. Globalists are not willing to admit their abuse of human nature caused all the problems mentioned above, and more. They still hope, by privileged use of stolen power, to survive the human destruction.

Readers may deny indoctrination but in China, possibly our oldest civilization, the feet of girl children were crippled and this obscenity was thought beautiful! Social indoctrination is what causes cultures to differ; it is a prime method for forcing change and will control all cultures until we, the people, become willing to take responsibility for our own governing, and expose it.

Those who have not given serious thought to the politics of today will parrot the conventional teachings of their times – will say we do not have world government; or, that it is not run on lines of socialist control; or, will maintain that socialism and capitalism are opposites. But a little honest research will show capitalism to be dedicated to world ownership through control of banking, mass media ownership, international business and indoctrination of social ideas through national, government-planned, education.

This is not different to socialism: each semi-secret sect does the same! Each has the same aims of manipulation and thought control through governments promoted as being democratic.

In both cases governments are without the essential democratic features that give control and honest education to the people. Non democratic government is defended by claims the misled majority has not the intelligence for self-government but forget that self-deceived leaders have always led nations to disaster.

The great mass of people means pollution and danger (not benefit) to the world government. Both Capitalism and Communism aim at reducing the base mass of humanity to a mindless insect order devoted to a stagnant state from where it can be safely culled.

Both, in the end, work as a team of opposing appearance to achieve a desired synthesis through manipulation of the Hegelian dialectic philosophic principle of thesis and antithesis.

Globalist-humanists foresaw that by indoctrination they would blind us to practical reality; but did they see all consequences? They certainly planned for deconstruction and depopulation (under their control); but did they believe that they themselves, by foreknowledge, could evade the consequences?

Global-humanists, facing the consequences of their arrogance, must fear the response of informed human action more than they fear destruction of life on earth. If we "the people" realize, dangerously late, that this situation could have been avoided – if we see that those we trusted, deliberately misled us into a death trap – then such anger may be generated that Globalists, even in cavernous hideaways, may not feel safe.

In light of imminent consequences (related to events that mankind is indoctrinated to consider as being unlikely or impossible) it is now interesting to look at the Scriptural description of end times.

Can Biblical forecasts of end times can now be interpreted in view of growing enlightenment? Can the concept of evil now be better defined and life's meaning be better understood? This, the beginning of the last days of our times, is the wake-up call for those wanting to earn their right to life's ultimate reward.

M't: Read 24: 4 - 22, to include: "If that time of troubles were not cut short, no living thing could survive; but for the sake of God's chosen it will be cut short."

It is also interesting to look at Luke: 21. 10-11. And Revelation from, 8. 6 to 9. 11. Remember that these texts were written after various periods of being held in memory and then collated from scattered writings by people who did not understand them.

Given coming events we will no doubt see more of their meanings but it is already clear enough that we are facing a time of exceptional strife, earth activity, famines plagues, and sickness caused by biological weapons or by poisonous volcanic activity.

Explanations of how the universe is constructed have evaded all attempts of explanation and latest attempts are increasingly based on theories that have no scientific base. The 'latest' claimed explanation simply take a formula created by adding a weight of some unknown element as needed to explain what actually exists; then putting this formula into a computer to get the required model. This simple 'slight-of-hand' is called a solution to the problem! All it explains is either how dumb, or how desperate, these scientists are.

Scientists today, finding their explanations leading to bigger problems, still say that the concept of God has no scientific evidence. If this is so then surely they must see that the base on which their science rests is in urgent need of revision.

If present science is unable to accept:

A/ That evidence of foretold events; plus:

B/ The evidence of the fact that life could not possibly have been created by chance; plus:

C/ The evidence that the universe cannot be explained within the limits of physics does not mean that a dimension of mind/spirit must be acknowledged. Then today's science, to all logical intelligence, must be dismissed as not based on rational premise.

So do not think that we can sit on our hands and wait! Those, who think life not worth the effort to save, will lose it. Recall, Jesus also said: "Those who are not with me are against me." There is no fence for sitting between right and wrong.

But let us not be hasty in pointing the finger! Our present disastrous situation could also have been avoided had we, the people, not loved the bribe of irresponsible pleasure more than family and future – had we been prepared to accept our human responsibilities of self-government (as legally entitled) we, thereby, would have honestly informed ourselves and required action would have been taken.

Do we wonder how so many apparently educated, caring people in positions of wealth and public influence, could have been so blind? All people, if not part of globalist families, are so involved in their own lives that, given restricted understanding of human nature, fail to see what is really going on in the human world.

Though the earth change resulting from irresponsible behavior may not have been planned (greed has no wisdom) destruction of population was. Do those who planned to own the earth prefer to take their chances of saving themselves rather than facing the shame of being seen as challenging a Creator whose reality their actions have helped confirm? Globalists have no courage to face their contemptible behavior.

No use now to shout 'conspiracy theory'! Do we now dare admit our responsibility for our own governing?

Is it now too late? Problems faced can be fixed! Human ingenuity, combined with truth, can achieve amazing things. Past cultures, with false gods, advancing to value pleasure over discipline, collapsed. Faith and honest use of knowledge may still save millions! "Faith can move mountains!"

Unity is Strength! That saying carries real weight! J. Edgar Hoover, near 50 years head of the FBI (USA) said: "The individual is handicapped by coming face to face with a 'Conspiracy so Monstrous' he cannot believe it exists". He saw a big picture! We now see the consequences of avoiding our responsibilities!

Corrupt government; by indoctrination through mass media and education, hid the information we needed to live responsible lives! Immoral behavior; entertainment; sports, plain ignorant stupidity; sex, all were unnaturally promoted to create a false ideal of human normal. But these, being abnormal, created thoughts, ideals and attitudes of sickness and corruption. Do we still think seductions of pleasure a fair bribe for our lives? Will we now act with intelligence and dignity?

For in-depth background to the present situation see www.themindweb.com or, in Australia, get the more convenient digest of books on offer at www.lifetruth.org.au

Use your present opportunity to distribute this article to friends by use of the "Send to Friend" facility. See other articles on these sites: have you read "The Quantum Leap"?

Life is more important than 'here now'. If you have any information to challenge anything in the above article please feel free to E-mail comment to: told@lifetruth.org.au or place your evidence on the 'lifetruth' Forum.

Note: * Our earth has undergone many changes including temperature changes, positions of magnetic north and the magnetic field. The primary mechanism of change is best explained by the reactions of earth to shifting loads.

When we look at the globe of earth we can see that the present position of the Poles is probably the best natural position in consideration of the fact that the build-up of ice and snow at the poles is greatly aided by convenient land mass. The South Pole has land mass and the north is over an area sufficiently landlocked to have provided a frozen bed for snow build-up. Changes in land mass position could have provided other locations at earlier times.

Movements of earth's crust caused by changing distribution of weight or asteroid impact rupturing earth's crust to increase earthquake activity and climate change, explain relocation of the Poles.

With human culture on a fine balance between rationality and stupidity now holding weapons of true mass destruction, and man-made global warming triggering ice-cap meltdown which, in turn, will trigger earthquakes and volcanic activity combining to produce forecast events, our present situation can be seen to provide a once only fulfillment of Biblical prophecy.

This, without timely intervention, may well end with termination of human life on earth.