

Today most believe in the “Common Good” but did we notice that after we came to believe in the common good, many were persuaded that each, personally, IS the common good.

Yes! In recent years children have been taught to believe that each one is the most important and, after indoctrination, those that take pride in this promotion see themselves, individually, AS the ‘common good’. They then no longer accept the old concept of common good because that has become just another name for “my good” and each thinks that anyone who sees ‘common good’ as different from the pride-made personal choice must be stupid or at least anti-social.

We are flattered by mind manipulating lies. A good friend expresses amazement that strangers she talks to may instantly place her in a ‘box’ representing attitudes or beliefs, but major ideological groups assume and recognize ‘forms of language’. Public Relations science has now analyzed words and attitudes and refined this to an art for far more precise ‘inhuman’ use.

Manipulators spend many $millions on collecting data about whole national populations; about ideas, preferences and human weaknesses; about deceptive education and the way words are understood and used. All, of course, computerized for grading and analysis. Control does not need ‘mind-blowing’ just a creeping paralysis of logic. Information is not protected from the international “SS”.

Communities are now studied to such detail that propaganda can be directed to wider groupings. A father may hear what appeals to him and a son hear what appeals to him while each ignores the other and the words that attract the preferences of the other.

The result is that many now think they know Christianity but we don’t know Christianity – think they know health but we don’t know health – think they know freedom but we don’t know freedom – think they know politics but we don’t know politics – think they know education but we don’t know education – think they know love but we don’t know love.

Ideas about these and many other subjects have become fragments in imagination – ghosts inserted by mind manipulation and accepted because our logic is confused.

This explains why some spend lifetimes in efforts of reform while unable to see that ideas of Law, or Education, or God – of government or health or welfare or culture or compassion, are just dismembered fragments of life acting in mind like a force of hypnosis. It is escape proof because we cannot see that there is anything to escape from.

The ‘Party’ trick

Trained agents employ top PR to influence people to accept ideas or to vote for ‘party promoted’ candidates. Parties compete, unknowing that apart from ‘right’ candidates’ winning, it is irrelevant who wins and citizens cannot see that the ‘party system’ is a confidence trick.

Party systems cannot be logically defended as valid democracy; they cannot be democratic. A party system can be effective only so long as under overlord (external) control to stop the naturally unstable system exposing its weakness through forces of its own idiocy.

The “Party System” allows behind scene manipulators to persuade nations to support unjust wars or cause communities to welcome laws that stifle healthy understanding.

Dictatorial governments cuckoo democracy and people still believe themselves free. In the end however, it is still individual choice; we buy ‘flattering’ seductions because we love them.

There can be no democracy unless each electorate choose its own representative. That is the base for democracy. All rights are created, held, made meaningful and protected by this act of choice. Without this, no convention, right or law is secure to the people.

Manipulators think themselves exempt; they call it legal so its O.K., but at best they are no better than thieves, confidence tricksters, or mass murderers. In friendship’s disguise they assault without concern or pity and, vampire-like, drain the human-logic of victims. They trick people into error to rob them of their humanity. THAT is atrocity and we know it!

To save our pride we close our eyes. Modern propaganda causes communities to support what, in free conscience, would be rejected. Webs of misinformation seriously entangle and disable our logic and we willingly die for the lie!

Those seeing a little of the growing inequity keep hitting their heads against brick walls until overcome by futility and exhaustion. We refuse to believe that we need to see a complete picture – we cannot incorporate the insight of others so as to broaden our campaign and reveal the wider reality – we cannot change ideas for fear of weakening our fixation. >>>

But it is not too late! When sophistication corrupts nature, faults develop: nylon will disintegrate where cotton holds.

Do we still have the courage to save ourselves when given knowledge and evidence?

Can activists begin to see enough of truth to join forces and thereby expose the big picture to a larger audience?

Our brain was made for gain; not for drain of human garbage.

For salvation an awakening must occur! Greed and pride, in love of the lie, enslave the mind; only by facing truth can we know reality.

Mind Manipulation

The cancer we buy and love.
Every lying persuasion, cancer-like,
deforms the logical ability of the brain.

Edward L. Bernays is credited as the modern genius of public relations propaganda (see Ch.3 of Globalism Brainwash etc). This subversive science has quickly advanced. The mind manipulators, in pride of their achievement, now reveal new dimensions of their inhuman trade.

If you have clicked the picture on themindweb home page you will know that I am now in my 83rd year and for about half of that time I have been trying to show humanity the deadly danger of its situation.

At first only exposure of simple facts seemed needed, people would understand and quickly, just by seeing, fix the problem. This was not so; should I explain more clearly? After about twenty years I began to realize that people could not believe, or could not always accept, the obvious. I had to look to a broad spectrum and avoid extremists who discredit all reform by falling for so many of the decoys the manipulators put out.

A recent TV feature called "The Cutting Edge" advertised: "Explores how the cultures of marketing and advertising have come to influence what US consumers buy". This gave a new dimension to the depths of social confidence trickery to which some descend for power or, 'just a few dollars more'.

A Culture of Cancer

We have looked at various aspects of mind manipulation and know that Public Relations, as a commercial tool, is in disguise of its true use.

The true use of PR is political/cultural manipulation. It has already proven that it can get an unknown candidate elected before one known and respected. It can also give power to justify war, create hate or promote (by use of Hegelian Dialectic) the deadly humanist ideology now ruling our culture.

It comes as no surprise that this power is directed to political deceit; that is not in question. However the refinements now achieved lead me to believe that new exposures may make it easier for many to understand what is happening. The mind of every person is not yet fully enslaved to mind manipulation; this leaves a ray of hope.

People will say some are always trying to persuade us to buy this or vote for that; it's a natural part of life; what does it matter? Well, in cave-man days it didn't matter. Everyone knew everything; survival needed unity and opinions were honest expressions of experience. Life is now changed, we no longer hunt wild food and avarice is more and more promoted.

Your health, happiness, wealth and even your life are all 'fair game' for the human predator. Let these get the power of knowledge to manipulate you and they own you. Sabre-toothed tigers were play kittens by comparison.
